<http://www.rootsweb.com/> [The author resides in Oberbach near Wildflecken, Germany, and is the chronicler for the villages of Oberwildflecken, Wildflecken, and Oberbach.]

..... Wildflecken, a town of approximately 3,600 inhabitants, is well-known to American soldiers, civilians, and their families, because it has a huge training area. Starting in 1936 under Hitler's regime, laborers built a village (Camp Wildflecken) and a training area with ranges. The inhabitants of seven villages and a few hamlets (Weiler) and mills had to leave their homes. The villages had only between 50 and 400 inhabitants. Most of the villages were demolished during 1938 and Werberg in 1973 by training U.S. troops. The following villages/hamlets and mills disappeared from all maps:

REUSENDORF, first mentioned in 1579, including the farms ADAMSHOF, SARAHOF, HEINRICHSHOF, and FUCHSENMUEHLE

Anastasia Amrhein arrived in Baltimore on September 13, 1865 with her father, Kaspar Amrhein, her sister Veronika and her Uncle Joseph Amrhein and his family aboard the Neptune when she was 12 years old.

CHAPTER XXVIII.

BOROUGH OF JERSEY SHORE

INDUSTRIES.

The first tannery at the borough was established by Simpson Crawford near where Peter Bastress lived and died. Abraham Lawshe, who came in 1803, also founded an industry of this character, and purchased a small tannery previously established by Thomas Edward. It was afterwards carried on for a time by George Quiggle, his son-in-law, when it passed into the hands of Robert Sponhouse. The planing mill of Cammerer & Lambert now occupies the site of the old tannery. A. Junod also started a tannery at an early day, which, in 1830, was purchased by Bingaman & Slonaker. It was conducted by them for many years. The plant is still there but little work is now done.

Elizabeth Taiger/Teyscher/Deyscher/Deischer, born Abt. 1785 in Richmond, Berks County, Pennsylvania; died Aft. 1852 in Upper Fairfield Township, Lycoming County, Pennsylvania. She was the daughter of 34. Daniel Teyscher/Deischer and 35. Catharine Rein.

Notes for Johann "Adam" Sr. Knittle:

Frederick Knittle is found on the 1790 Federal Census for Richmond, Berks County, Pennsylvania. He is then found in the Catawissa, Northumberland County, Pennsylvania in the 1800 Census. In 1810, Adam Knittle is found in East Buffalo, Northumberland County, Pennsylvania. In 1820 and 1830 Adam is found in Brunswick, Schuylkill County, Pennsylvania. By 1840 Adam has moved to Muncy Township, Lycoming County, Pennsylvania. Adam and Elizabeth are found in Fairfield Township, Lycoming County, Pennsylvania in 1850.

Adam is buried in Muncy Twsp., Lycoming County, Pa.

Baptism: 04 Mar 1781, Sponsors, Johann Adam Knittle and Anna Elizabeth Steinin (single)

Notes for Elizabeth Taiger/Teyscher/Deyscher/Deischer:

The name "Taiger" is a version of "Teysher". No "Taigers" were found to be living near Frederick or Adam Knittel in Richmond, Berks County, Pennsylvania in the 1790 Federal Census. However, David, Christian, and Daniel Teyscher were found living very close to the Knittel family. Frederick Knittel was found on page 78 and David Teyscher was found on page 77, Christian Teyscher on page 76, Daniel Teyscher on page 85 in Hereford. The name changed spelling several times over the next 40 years. In 1800, the name appeared as Teyscher, but also as "Deyscher" for part of the family. In the 1810 Census, more of the family changed the spelling to Deyscher. By the 1820 Census, the name was found as, Deisher, Deicher, Disher, and Deyscher. "Teysher" was never found again in Pennsylvania.

John "Adam" Knittle, Sr., the son of Frederick Knittel was born in 1781 and would have been 9 in the 1790 Census. Elizabeth was born about 1785 and would have been 5 in 1790. The only Teyscher in Richmond that had a female child that could have been Elizabeth was Christian Teyscher. David was probably her brother.

The Teyscher family apparently did not follow the Knittle migration to Schuylkill or Lycoming Counties. They remained in and around Berks County, Pennsylvania.

Notes for Michael Joseph Knittel/Knittle:

Michael Joseph Knittel's birth is found : Kirchenbuch, 1558-1893, Schmiden, Neckarkreis. Wuerttemberg, Germany. Evangelische Kirche Schmiden (OA. Cannstatt) #1055976 1027 Page 12-7. The son of Joseph Knittel and Maria Magdalena Kauffman. His mother died two days after he was born.

"I found an interesting note from the Pennsylvania Dutch center in Kutztown. It comes from Morton Montgomery who lived the same time as Michael Knittel(2). When Michael moved to Berks county and got married there was no church building available. So he when he married Anna Schatz they got married in a meadow on a warm late fall day on the inside bend of the Schuylkill River. Morton recorded that there was stock-a-plenty. I think they meant lots of meat with their meal." (From Roger Knittle)

Notes for Jacques (James) (De Sellaire) Zeller:

Lived in France. Left Zurich to travel down the Rhine to spread the gospel of Reformation. Being Huguenots, they were forced to flee their home in Strasbourg when revocation of the Edict of Nantes meant all the Huguenots were subject to death or exile. Holland was the family refuge for several years and it was during this time that the name became Zeller. Naturalized citizen of England 1709 by Act of Parliament.

Occupation: Preacher, an Evangelist

Notes for Lady Clothilde de Valois:

Clothilde de Valois de Reni, a young countess, fell in love with and married a scholar who resided across the French border in Zurich, Switzerland. He was Jacques de SELLAIRE - known as VON ZELLER of Castle Zellerstein, Zurich. Clothilde was in her teens when they married. They fled from France with their children after the revocation of the Edict of Nantes and went to Holland, where they apparently stayed for some time. They, shortly after their son's marriage in Holland, the ZELLERS went to England and "the Lady Clothilde" as she was recorded there, placed herself, he children and her husband under the protection of Queen Anne who later gave them protection when they chose to begin life anew in the new world. But by this time, Jacques had died, either in London or before their ship arrived at New York in June 1710.

These French immigrants, together with many of the Palatinate Germans found little welcome along the Hudson River. They continued further north to the Dutch-English province at Schoharie where they again found rejection. After an invitation from the governor of Pennsylvania, Lady Clothilde Zellers' eldest son, with an Indian guide, journeyed down the Susquehanna and to what is now the Lebanon Valley. Jean Henri Zeller returned to report to his mother and her party that this was the place for them. And after building rafts and obtaining provisions for the trip, the contingent set forth, arriving at the Mill Creek Region, not far from present Newmanstown and the larger settlement of Womelsdorf in 1723.

It was here the Zellers built a fort to protect themselves and their neighbors. They procured deeds for land from John, Thomas and Richard PENN. Later they helped start the first church in the area, rebuilt their log fort in 1745 with stone outside and plaster inside and carved over the door the emblem of their faith and also the family crest as knights of the Holy Roman Empire.

It was about this time that the name ZELLER was Germanized to Heinrich ZELLER from Jean Henri ZELLER, and although his father was from Switzerland, because this family lived with the Germans in a German settlement, they have become known as of German descent.

Interesting Facts to follow up on:

in 1285 by his father. The Valois family produced Henry IV King of France.

(The above was taken from a chapter in the book entitled "NOTABLE WOMEN OF PENNSYLVANIA", edited by Gertrude Biddle and Sarah Lowrie (Phila, 1942) and is from a short biography of a French woman named Clothilde de Valois.
