Hanover co. census - 1830. In 1850 he is listed as "millwright". As "farmer" in 1860, and as a "millwright" again in 1870. P.O. Pierces', Dover Township, Aug., 1870. In 1860 is in Goochland Co., next house to John F. Nuckolls.

In the "Missouri letter" of 1873, Andrew J. is gone, and John, their youngest son, is living with them. He is unmarried. Other "children" in Richmond.

George is the one who moved about - born Louisa, married in Fluvanna, lived mostly in Goochland county. I think he is the most probable father to Patrick Henry Duggins.

The film from LDS, Births Goochland Co., Va. 1852-1901, lists about 5 entries for George Duggins for "slaves born", 1853, -54, etc.

[William Duggins family.FTW]

From county history, Saline County, Mo.:

Lewis H. Duggins, deceased, was a millwright by trade, and was born in Louisa county, Virginis, January 5, 1808, where he was raised on a farm. In 1838 he came to Saline cunty, and worked at his trade here for some years. In 1849 he took the gold fever and went to California, where he was successful in mining, and returned to this county in 1853; located in Cambridge, and engaged in merchandising, which he continued till the breaking out of the war. He then sold out and went to farming, at which he continued until his death, September 19, 1875. He was a member of the Methodist Church since he was a boy, and honest and conscientious in all his dealing. He began life with nothing, and accumulated quite a fortune, nearly all of which he lost in the war. He was first married soon after he came to Missouri to Miss Hester A. Goodrich, and had two children. She died in 1847. Was married again in 1860, to Miss Ann Eliza Doak, daughter of Col. Samuel Doak, of this county, formerly of Augusta county, Virginia. By this union there are two children: Lizzie Lee and Mary Blanche.

Notes for Thomas Crutchfield Duggins:
[William Duggins family.FTW]

From very flowery account in a Saline County, Mo. history:

Thomas Crutchfield Duggins was born in Louisa county, Virginia, March 10, 1810, and was one of twelve children. He was married in Albemarle county, Virginia, in 1833, to Elizabeth White Jackson. He moved to Missouri and settled on a farm about three miles north of Columbia in Boone county, Missouri, in 1838. He traveled this entire distance in a wagon. In 1840 he moved to Saline county, Missouri, and settled on a farm east of Miami, but in 1844 he removed to his farm located three miles west of Slater, where he continuously resided until a few months prior to his death, which occurred in Marshall, Missouri, in January, 1880.

Prior to his removal to his farm near Slater Mr. Duggins was employed by the government to assist in surveying the "Platte Purchase," and was afterwards elected county surveyor of Saline county, which position he held for sixteen years, and with such skill and accuracy that his surveys gave general, if not universal, satisfaction to the people. After the Civil war he was again often called into official service as an experienced aid to the county surveyors.

Another bio of his son Wm. T. states he taught school in Virginia from 1829 to 1838.

In a long letter written to his wife during a lengthy visit to his relatives in Virginia, he makes the following observation: (written in 1873)

1. Went to Richmond first and stayed 8 days with George's children.
2. 20 miles to Goochland Co. to see George and family. George and Elizabeth very feeble - cannot last long. John, their youngest son -still unmarried-is with them.
3. 10 miles to William's. William's wife dead about 12 months. William's eyes very sore. Wm's son Josiah and wife and 3 small children. Children very badly behaved!!
4. Visited "the old place" (Louisa co.?) about 10 miles. William and "Dolly" (this is William Fleming Duggins and Indiana -the former wife of Wm's uncle, James Madison Duggins. Doesn't know whether to call her "sister" or "niece"!!
Also visited Robert's and Jefferson's families. Robert's wife has her youngest son with her. Jefferson's wife has married a Mr. Ready.

Most of the letter tells how bad conditions were after the Civil War for the people who lived there. What poor shape the buildings were in, etc. The rest of the letter is about visits to his wife's people.

Notes for Edmund Pendleton Duggins:
[William Duggins family.FTW]

He may or may not be a son of William Duggins. Information supplied to Ruth Harvey by Frances Nuckolls, Rose Massie and the Louisa Co. Records, according to Ruth. There is a large gap in ages between Edmund and Thomas Crutchfield Duggins - about 14 years. Edmund is probably the son of one of the older brothers - Robert, William, Ruth Harvey was the wife of a descendant of Granville Thomas Duggins, a son of Patrick Henry Duggins by his first wife, Lucy Jane Ford. Ruth did this research in Virginia, in about 1970's.

From Robert Brown: Bob Brown rsbrown1@earthlink.net Chantilly, VA
Edmund Pendleton Duggins' wife, Henrietta Maria Carver, was one the "Little Garden" Carvers. Henrietta's sister, Charlotte, who was married to Richard Waldrop, raised Henrietta's children. Richard Waldrop was the brother of Samuel Waldrop, my GG grandfather.

Notes for Moses David Duggins:

This information provided by Ila Graham Jacox:

Moses Duggins was born May 10, 1817, (bible record) in Kentucky, (census record) but I have found nothing to point to the names of parents. By 1840 he was in Howard County, Missouri. On Dec 14, 1861 he enlisted in the 5th Regiment of Missouri Infantry. He enlisted in Chariton County, Missouri, (National Archive records) and was wounded at the Battle of Pea Ridge in Arkansas. All of his children were born in Missouri. He married (date unknown) Elizabeth Louisa Smith, daughter of William Green Smith and Nancy Crider. (Possibly Grider)

I have scanned the census reports on microfilm for 1850 and 1860 and this is what I found:

1850 Missouri census, Macon County, District 52: Moses Duggins, 31, born Kentucky, with wife Elizabeth and three children, Nancy, Rhoda and Matilda.

1860 Missouri census, Macon County, Narrows Tnshp, P.O. Box McLammsville-Moses Duggins, 45, and wife Elizabeth and six children; Nancy, Rhoda J., Matilda, Mary E., Martha F. and Henry D.

Only one of the Duggins children married in Missouri-Nancy Elizabeth Duggins married Aug 17,1861, to Alexander Moore in Randolph, Missouri. (The remainder of the children were married in California after 1865)

Moses' military records show that he was wounded in the knee and "left with the enemy" at Pea Ridge.

Family lore:The Union soldiers thought he would die anyway so he was left on the battlefield. He made his way home to Missouri and after his recovery was employed in a barrel factory in St. Louis. There he was blinded in one eye by a barrel hoop. In 1865 he brought his family to California by wagon train.

More information on Elijah Duggins and his descendants was provided by Shirley Grant Farrell: shirleygrantfarrell@msn.com this is information that jewel b. graves-gaddie had in her book, on "the duggins family" elijah and rachel (foster) duggins original house on the duggins farm burned. they built another house but it is also gone. the old well at the original house site is still there. their son elijah "lige" said he helped his father dig the well and his dad did the masonry. rachel is buried in macomb cemetery just west of her farm. elijah was buried at friendship cemetery northwest of sherman, texas. when he died the macomb cemetery had not been started or at least only had several graves.

it is said during the civil war that rachel hid the horses in the cornfields to keep the yankee's from finding them. she lost two brothers in the war.

elijah and rachel duggins lived in washington county, kentucky, where her parents lived and (where they were married) for a number of years. they maybe lived a while in indiana, then a number of years in audrain county, missouri. they were opposed to the civil war. four of rachel's brothers fought for the union army. two were killed and two survived the war.

elijah was a stonemason and farmer. we are told there are buildings still standing in audrain county, missouri that elijah built. about 1876 they moved their family from mexico, missouri (audrain co.) to oklahoma (indian territory), where they stayed a short while, before moving to texas.

rebecca bell, their daughter, was about seven years old and remembers their trip from missouri was made with a group of families in covered wagons pulled by oxen.

in texas elijah and rachel located their family on a rich black land farm in the macomb community, southeast of whitesboro, texas.

they had 16 children, 14 of them living to be grown and married. the duggins and varley's were among the first people in the community.

there were no highways between whitesboro and sherman (the county seat). the farms were not fenced and rebecca bell remembers when they wanted to go somewhere they just cut across the prairie the shortest route.

there were no railroads yet. (railroads came 1878) and whitesboro was a rugged pioneer town. the town had a wide sandy main street with a well in the middle and a watering trough where you could water your team. the sidewalks were made of wood. (the area has been restored and has a marker).

elijah died in 1879 of the flux only three years after coming to texas. he was 49 years of age. he became ill on a trip back from oklahoma. a short distance out of sherman he laid down in his wagon and his team carried him home. he lived only several days. they had two doctors attending him, but the flux (a bloody bowel disease) killed many people in those days.

rachel foster duggins and her children continued to farm their land, growing wheat, corn and cotton. rachel lived on the farm until her death in 1923. she was past 90 years of age. she was blind several years before her death. her son, daniel berthly duggins and several of his single children lived with her during her last years.

note: rachel foster duggins was a little bitty woman. it is hard to imagine her having 7 girls and 9 boys.

Notes for Sarah (Gardard) Goddard:
Much research indicates this to be the only "Clara" born between 1883 and 1888 in Owen County, Kentucky and living with grandparents after the death of her mother. Her mother was unknown Goddard. Alexander Campbell Duggins was living only a few miles away in the 1880 Census. This is pure speculation. I have no proof at this time.

Family history says A C Duggins was married after the death of Mary, his first wife, and before his third marriage in 1888. He and his third wife, Sarah Elizabeth, moved to Randolph County, Missouri before 1900, leaving Clara to be raised by her grandparents. Clara went to see her father as a young woman and was quite upset that he left her behind.

DUGGINS, GEORGE WASHINGTON

George Washinton Duggins was born in Kentucky in 1858 and a few years later Janie Dodson was born. In 1877, Janie Dodson and G. W. Duggins were married and headed West. They made it to Grayson County, Texas that same year. In 1878, they joined a 30 family wagon train with G. W. Duggins as wagon master and headed for Indian Territory. They made it to what is Maud, Oklahoma. Bust as they were about to enter Indian Territory, for some unknown reason they were stopped and told they could not continue for some time. But Mr. Duggins, being a religious man and a Mason and the man in charge had a conference. They were allowed to continue on their way. They headed west from Maud, Oklahoma and filed on land six miles west and 3/4 miles south of Cordell, where they lived for many years. Mr. Duggins and a pioneer by the name of Tom Stafford established the first school located 1/4 mile south and one mile east of his claim. They called it Dugford from each of their names. School was held in a half dugout. Dugford Cemetery was also laid out at that location. J.J. McCurley was the first teacher at Dugford. The Duggins farm was a stopping place for many a traveler and all preachers. Mrs. Duggins was very active in church and served as minister on many an occasion. Mr. Duggins was active in farming for many years. Janie Duggins died in 1902 and Mr. Duggins in 1941. Four boys and three girls were born to George and Janie Dodson Duggins. Their children were: Ed, Jess, Ethyl, Phenoy (Dick), Irving (Bob) and Valli and Minnie. Minnie was married to John Ashworth and seven children were born: Opal, Foy, Bill, Orvill (Pete), Audrey, Mrth, and Winnied, all of which are living except Foy, who died in 1935. Edd was married to Maggie Spradlin and four children were born to them. Clovis, Faye, Margaret and Edward. Jess married Fanny Bell Nelson and two children were born to them, Mildred and June. Phenoy (Dick) was married to Ruby Loveall and two children were born to them, Mildred and June. Irving (Bob) was married to Lee Ora Jennings and three children were born to them, Cecil, Baker and Bobby. Valli was married to Ebert (Shorty) Loveall and three children were born to them, Fern, Loy and Glenn Ray. Ethyl was married to Harley Botchlett and six children were born to them, Layle, Jiggs, Lorrell, LaVerna, Harley and Coy D. Later Ehyl was married to A. G. (Butch) Jones after the death of her husband Harley. The only survivor is Minnie Ashworth, the oldest of the children who is 94 years old, and lives in Hammon, Oklahoma.

G. W. Duggins, 85, years old, died last Friday in Cordell at the home of his daughter, Mrs. A. G. Jones.

Funeral services were held at the Church of Christ at 2:00 o'clock Sunday afternoon by George Emptage, Minister. Burial was made in the Sod Cemetery. Mr. Duggins was born near Louisville, Kentucky on January 26, 1856. He was married in 1880 to Miss Janie Dodson, who died April 22, 1904. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Jones and Mrs. J.R. Ashworth of Hammon, three sons, W. E. Duggins of Cordell, H.P. Duggins and G. I Duggins of Yakima, Wa., by a sister, Mrs. Rebecca Gaddie of Whitesboro, Texas and by six brothers, Lee Duggins of El Centro, Calif., Elijah Duggins of Blythe, Calif., David Duggins of Bakersfield, Calif., Ephraim Duggins of Pie Town, New Mexico, and Daniel and James Duggins of Tioga, Texas. shirley

Also from Shirley:

Written by George Washington Duggins:

I was born in Washington County, Kentucky, January 26, 1856 on a farm . I moved with my parents to Jessamine County, Kentucky, to a point of fifteen miles east of Cincinnati, Ohio. Then after living there for some time my parents moved to Tuscumba, Missouri, which is forty miles south of Jefferson City, the Capital. I have always lived on a farm, Father working at his trade as a stone mason, when he could get work. When I was eighteen, I left my Missouri home and went to live with my father's half-brother, James Stinnett, in Texas. By the time I was twenty-one I saved enough money from my working for my uncle on the farm and from the cotton I raised on a ten acre patch to pay for eighty acres of good black land in Grayson County, twelve miles west of Sherman, Texas. After I had been in Grayson County one year, my father left Missouri with his wife, seven boys and seven girls and moved to Grayson County and bought a farm. I married in Grayson County at the age of twenty-four to Miss Janie DODSON, a neighbor farm girl. When I was thirty-two we left Grayson County, crossing the Red River at the Delaware Bend and settling on the north side of the river in the Chickasaw Nation.

I leased land from Tom PERKINS, a full blood Indian. This place is what is now known as Marshall County near McMillen. After five years there I sold my lease and moved to a point four miles south of Durwood. Tom LEMMONS and I furnished the money to build a schoolhouse. This was the first schoolhouse ever built in the yellow hills. The School was supported by subscription or by patrons paying tuition to the teachers. The first teacher to teach in the new building was Simms STAGGS who now lives at Oklahoma City. Mr. Staggs visited me here at Cordell in 1936. I ran on the free range in Marshall County some one hundred head of cattle, twenty head of horses and seventy-five head of hogs. I did not have much feeding to do. I raised cotton and corn receiving fair price when I sold. I left the Chickasaw Nation in the winter of 1897, taking with me my horses and cattle. I filed on one hundred and sixty acres, five miles west and one half mile south of Cordell and I lived on this land twenty-one years until the children, four boys and three girls, were grown. Mrs. Duggins died on this farm February 22, 1904. In 1918 I sold this land and bought land three miles west and one and one half north of Cordell, where I lived for five years. I then sold out and now live in Cordell alone. I am now eighty-two years of age and my children are all married. I have always taken an active interest in the Government as a voter but never sought public office. I have been an active member of the Church of Christ and during my adult life time studied the scriptures and endeavored to apply the principles not only in formal worship but also in my everyday walk of life. Our clothes in the olden days were not much nor our food, but by the good will of the Lord, he helped us out through our hardships, trials and temptations.

May God bless everyone.

THE SAGA OF LOUIS DUGGINS

The following is a story my grandfather told many times and it was always the same, so I tend to believe it is correct.

Grandpa was raising five daughters alone after grandma died of "Dropsy". Today that is called “Congestive Heart Failure”. I do not remember the time frame that grandpa was crushed between two railroad boxcars. He was a railroad brakeman. When he got physically better, he could not hear or speak. His sisters-in-laws were angry with him and accused him of killing their sister by not giving her the proper amount of medicine. My mother was sixteen at the time and knew that her father had indeed given the proper amount of medicine. After a period of time grandpa went to Texas to find a drier climate to help his medical condition. After a period of time in Texas and not improving, grandpa took his dog, some jerky (dried beef) and went into Mexico. There in Mexico he did become able to speak and hear. Grandpa started a country bar and become fairly prosperous. This was during the Mexican revolution and one-day some of Poncho Vias soldiers came to grandpa and asked for some gold. (The locals called him Tio-This is uncle) He told them that he did not have any and they said they knew he did and would be back that evening to get it. After thinking about it for a while, grandpa went to his corral and dug up his gold, put it in his pockets, got his rifle and laid down in the corral. Later in the evening the soldiers came and started calling for “Tio”. He did not respond and they started drinking his liquor. After a while they got very drunk and started tearing up the bar. Grandpa started shooting the soldiers as they came into view. There were three of them and he killed them all and two of the horses. The third horse he rode out of Mexico at night and hid during the day. He ended up in El Paso, Texas where he started a restaurant-bar. After a period of time some friends told him that the Mexicans knew he was there and was going to come get him. Grandpa left Texas and went to California in the area of now Los Angeles. That was too tame for him so he went to Tijuana where he started another restaurant-bar. Here again the Mexican authorities heard he was there and set out to get him. He always had a friend to warn him. This time he left Mexico for good and went to Pasadena, California. I met him when he was 77 living with his third wife. She canned the best Koda Figs I had ever eaten. Every time I would go to see them she would open a jar for me. I had gone to California with my sister Phyllis and her husband Ed. I worked at North American Aviation, building the F-86D fighter. Ed also worked at North American as an engineer. I left California in the fall of 1951 to return to Missouri where I worked as a service manager in a Cadillac-Dodge-Plymouth agency until I joined the Air Force in June of 1952. I never got to see grandpa again. He died in Pasadena. I found where I got my mechanical ability when I met my grandfather. During the second world war, my oldest brother Leslie was stationed in California. He met grandpa and was having a problem with the clutch in his car. Money was always a problem for a serviceman and repair parts were scarce as well. Grandpa pulled Leslie’s car up on the curb to have enough room to get under it. He did the repair work on the clutch and it must have been good because Leslie’s wife pulled their trailer (caravan) (That is what they lived in) across the country when Leslie was transferred. Leslie always had to fly with his squadron when transferred. I went home on vacation to Missouri and took my mother and father back to California with me to meet grandpa. My mother was not sure she wanted to see him as she was abandoned with her sisters. She did most of the care of her sisters in their younger years. Agnes (Carie Lee) Lived with mom and dad and grew up with Leslie and Phyllis as an older sister. Agnes was married to Floyd just before I was born and she always liked to tell the story of coming home right after my birth. All of her children called my mother and father grandma and grandpa. They came home from Illinois every Christmas until her family was fairly up in years. Some thing I need to correct is that my father died in Aurora, Illinois. Phyllis was taking care of him.

Death Certificate for Lewis Edward Duggins (Dugan) states he was born in Kentucky. Information was provided by daughter, Sylvine Merkle. His mother was M. Critchfield, born in Indiana. William Leonard Duggins is found with a wife Lidia May Duggins on the 1918 WWI Draft registration. He was living at 535 Picher, Ottawa County, Oklahoma. The document states he was missing his right foot. He was a miner at the Eagle-Picher Lead and Zinc Company.

"Named after the Picher Lead Company (later the Eagle-Picher Lead Company), the town of Picher, Oklahoma, was founded in 1915. The company had ex-tended its operations in Oklahoma after several decades of lead and zinc mining around Joplin, Missouri, and Galena, Kansas. The opening of the Picher field ushered in the last great mineral development in what became known as the Tri-State District. Only a dozen years after its found-ing, Picher had become the center of the largest lead and zinc mining district in the world. Mining waned in the 1930s, but Eagle-Picher succeeded in consolidating milling operations at a central mill and was the dominant force in the field by the Second World War. Postwar re-milling of chat piles and "gouging" of marginal ore bodies proceeded off and on through the 1950s and 1960s, after which most mines were abandoned."

"William Leonard Duggins lost his leg while working as a "bull" (I think) for the railroad. They were the guys who chased the bums and hobos off of the trains. Somehow he fell under the train while doing that. He had a peg leg after that. He used to take it off and show all the kids I am told. It never stopped him from doing anything. He went into mining after that and returned to the railroad as a conductor later. He left 3 wives and children behind, not telling anyone about some of them. I did track them down, however."
